

CAMPUS MINISTRY

CONCORDIA
UNIVERSITY

A UNIQUE CHANCE

You may never again be surrounded by the smorgasbord of riches that University life offers. There are so many things to try: lectures, parties, sports, politics, music, religion, art, theatre to name a few. It is the best time in your life to develop new interests, to grow in knowledge, and to discover something of the truth of who you really are. Personal values become clearer and social awareness sharpens as you begin to make the choices which will shape your adult life.

You will find that being a seeker of truth is not just a matter of having the right ideas. It is a journey of the whole person which requires reflection and discernment. Discovering a sense of who you really are, feeling comfortable with the mystery of life that you share, and profiting from the wisdom and experience of your tradition: these are the issues of truth and the spirit.

Your University Chaplains share that journey and concern. They are very much part of the university community and are familiar with student life. They also know about specific issues on campus. As you get to know them through conversation or particular programs, at parties or at worship, you'll probably find they can relate to you as friends.

To the life of the university, they add a concern for personal growth and community awareness. They encourage the development of personal insights, as well as a sense of responsibility towards some of the social and spiritual problems of our day.

Concordia Campus Ministry is made up of an ecumenical team of men and women from the major religious traditions. Working as a team is essential to them in their self-understanding. It is in this spirit they in turn relate to the students, staff and faculty in a common concern for the issues and problems facing the university community.

CONCORDIA CAMPUS M

John Beach Anglican Chaplain

John is in his second year in Campus Ministry, and spends half his time on the SGW Campus and half as Assistant in the Church of St. James the Apostle. He provides Anglican worship and prayer, is involved in prison ministry and is available for counselling.

Mary Garden Volunteer Assistant

After a career in industry and in administration at McGill, Mary entered religious life, and is now a novice in the Congregation of Notre-Dame. She has volunteered this year to help with outreach programs to the poor and handicapped.

Robert Nagy RC Chaplain

Nicknamed "Nudge" because of his Hungarian roots, Bob was six years as Chaplain at McGill before coming to Loyola in 1973. Committed to liturgy and the arts, he used his sabbatical leave last year to combine sculpting and theological renewal.

Anne Shore RC Chaplain

Anne received her M.A. in Pastoral Ministry from Loyola University in Chicago, and has been elected National Coordinator of Catholic Campus Ministers in Canada. She is concerned about womens' issues, and the role of women in the Church. She coordinates the volunteer program, and is available for counselling.

Sandra DeRome Sacristan

Sandra is the mother of five, and brings her warmth and skills to the Loyola Chapel as Sacristan. She coordinates the variety of events that go on in the Chapel... liturgy, concerts, speakers, and weddings. She is also Chairperson for the Liturgy Planning Committee.

MINISTRY STAFF 1985-86

Robert Gaudet S.J. RC Chaplain

A Jesuit carryover from the Loyola days, Bob combines an interest in marriage preparation, spiritual direction and issues of faith and justice. He likes sports, especially skiing, and has been chaplain to the football team.

Peter Macaskill

United Church Chaplain

As Pastor of Northlea United Church in Laval, Peter spends two half-days a week on the SGW Campus. He's available for counselling, bible study, and has been active with Christian Fellowship for many years.

Frances Polan RC Chaplain

Fran is a wife and mother of eight children who, after post-graduate studies in Counselling and Family Life Education, has brought her warmth and skills to Campus Ministry. She is available for personal and pastoral counselling on the SGW Campus.

Israel Tennenhouse Jewish Rabbi

Israel is on campus two half-days a week for counselling and personal help, for both Jewish students and non-Jews. He is active in Chabad House, a Center for Orthodox Jewish Students, which also reaches out to those who are non-practicing or are questioning their faith.

Marie Hooper Secretary

Marie is the Secretary for Campus Ministry and is the one to greet you on the phone or welcome you at the door of Belmore House. Her smile and friendly way make Belmore House a nice place to visit. Marie is the mother of one child, loves music and has great skills in calligraphy.
